Bi-Monthly Blog Updates

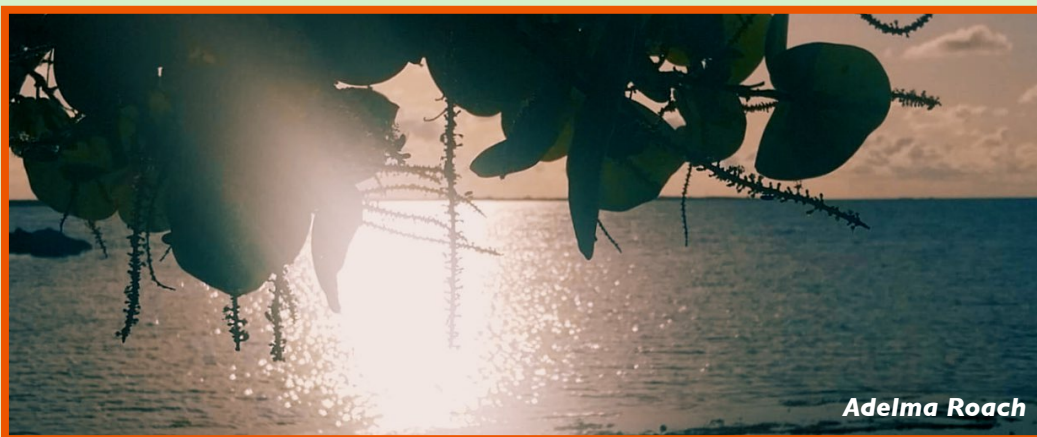

A Beacon of Light:

A friend was walking on her morning trek a few days ago, in the Bahamas, near a family Beach called Montague. The imagery of the sun glowing on Montague Beach was breathtaking and a perfect reminder of the light we can bring into this dark world.

By 7:15 a.m., it was so bright that it was nearly blinding. Matthew 5:16 (KJV) reminds us, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven." Let's commit to being beacons of light in our community today and always. Have a blessed and safe week.

The brightness of the light streaming across the crystal clear waters was a breathtaking moment and a perfect reminder of the light we can bring into the world. At this point, nature's brilliance was connected with the inspiration from Matthew 5:16. Let's all strive to shine brightly with kindness, compassion, and positivity, illuminating the lives of those around us. May all find it within you to be the light streaming across the darkness of this world today and always.

FAITH POWER MOVES

Explore the power of faith with today's 'Faith Power Move' #faith-power-move'. This power move will inspire and invigorate your spiritual journey.

Psalm 37:1-7 (NKJV)

“Do not fret because of evildoers, Nor be envious of the workers of iniquity. ² For they shall soon be cut down like the grass, And wither as the green herb. ³ Trust in the Lord, and do good; Dwell in the land, and feed on His faithfulness. ⁴ Delight yourself also in the Lord, And He shall give you the desires of your heart. ⁵ Commit your way to the Lord, Trust also in Him, And He shall bring it to pass. ⁶ He shall bring forth your righteousness as the light, And your justice as the noonday. ⁷ Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for Him; Do not fret because of him who prospers in his way, Because of the man who brings wicked schemes to pass.”

Minimize media exposure

When violent crimes or natural disasters happen, they tend to be all over the news. Whether your child was involved in the event or is just seeing it on the screen, repeat exposure can cause stress. In a survey after the 2001 September 11 attacks, more than a third of parents said that their children showed at least one sign of stress after seeing news coverage, and nearly half said that their children were worried about safety. These children were not involved in the events and often lived hundreds of miles away, but television coverage had a profound effect on them.

After any traumatic event, limit your child's media exposure to avoid triggering stress. For older children, you might put parental controls in place and limit their use of social media. This doesn't mean that your child needs to be in the dark about a traumatic event. Instead, you can be your child's source of information. Share pertinent information calmly, then let your child ask questions.

FUNDAMENTALS of Education

Career Personality Profile Test Learning Styles Quiz

Understanding the principles that guide Adventist Christian Education is critical for spiritual growth. Dive deep into these fundamentals in our latest update.

Differentiation — Recognizing and Nurturing Uniqueness:

Students who have gained book knowledge without gaining a knowledge of practical work cannot lay claim to a symmetrical education. The energies that should have been devoted to business of various lines have been neglected. Education does not consist in using the brain alone. Physical employment is a part of the training essential for every youth. An important phase of education is lacking if the student is not taught how to engage in useful labor. Revival And Reformation And Your Family — Reach In With God:

Enhance the unity and strength of your family.

- ❖ Encourage the young adults in your family who are thinking about marriage to access premarital education/counseling.
- ❖ Participate in marriage conferences/retreats with your spouse on a regular basis to keep your marriage strong.
- ❖ Participate in parenting workshops often to sharpen your parenting and discipling skills.
- ❖ As a family, intentionally support single parents, stepfamilies, single adults, seniors, widows/widowers and other often marginalized family groups and individuals.

Navigating Wealth: A Christian Perspective on Money and Desire (Part 1)

What is the role of money in a Christian's life, and is it sinful to desire financial wealth? In this discussion, we'll explore these questions from both theological and philosophical perspectives.

Firstly, it's important to acknowledge that money itself is neutral; it is a tool that can be utilized for either beneficial or harmful purposes, depending on the intentions and actions of those who wield it. The Bible's statement that "the love of money is the root of all evil" (1 Timothy 6:10) highlights the potential dangers that arise when individuals prioritize wealth above moral values, relationships, their faith, and ultimately, Jesus Christ.

— Dr. Paul A. Scavella

“Amusements that have a tendency to weaken the love for sacred things and lessen our joy in the service of God are not to be sought by Christians.”
