Believe and Be Baptized:

Baptism holds a significant position in the Bible as a vital step in the process of salvation and a public declaration of faith. According to Matthew 28:19-20, Jesus commanded His disciples to "go therefore and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit..."

FITNESS MATTERS

Your body is your temple. Our health and fitness updates provide effective workout routines, healthy recipes, and tips to maintain a balanced lifestyle.

Recognize signs of traumatic stress:

Keep a healthy diet and exercise regime

Toxic stress can do a number on the body, and that's true for children, too. It releases stress hormones into the blood and nervous system, elevates the heart rate and breathing, and puts a person in fight-or-flight mode. But physical activity can reverse the adverse effects of stress and trauma. According to researchers, people who are more active after a traumatic event have improved mental health compared with those who are more sedentary.

Indeed, staying active can release mood-boosting hormones, improve sleep and offer much-needed social opportunities after a difficult experience. Encourage your child or teen to play outside, participate in a favorite sport or go for a family walk. Have your child eat quality, whole foods as part of a well-rounded diet, which gives the body energy, and avoid sugary and heavily processed foods, which can cause mood swings and worsen depressive symptoms.

Students' Minds have Untapped Potential:

"Instead of confining their study to that which men have said, or written, let the students be directed to the sources of truth, to the vast fields opened for research in nature and revelation, let them contemplate the great facts of duty and destiny and the mind will expand and strengthen."

— Adventist Education - E. G. White

Ways To Share God's Love With Others:

Talk about your struggles

Sometimes we feel the need to hide what we are going through. We may not want to burden those around us, or we might be embarrassed by our situation. Whatever the reason, hiding our struggles makes it nearly impossible for others to minister to us. Being open about what we are going through opens the door for empathy and compassion. As parents, it will also set an excellent example for our children to be vulnerable and open to ministry from God. None of us can do this on our own. Why pretend as though we can? — Focus on the Family

Financial Fitness

Learn effective money management, saving, and investment tips to secure financial health. It's time to take control of your financial future. It is more blessed to give than to receive. Receivers always give.

Fifteen Dimensions of Growing your church's financials:

7. Developing Realistic Financial Goals

Start with prayerful reflection and biblical principles. Establish clear, measurable, and attainable financial goals that resonate with the biblical mission. Whether it's expanding outreach programs, building infrastructure, or supporting community services, your goals should be specific and time-bound.

Use the SMART criteria — Specific, Measurable, Achievable, Relevant, and Time-bound — to guide your goal development. For example, "Raise $50,000 in donations within the next year to fund outreach initiatives" is a tangible goal that can motivate and direct your efforts.
